The BUZZ from *BEE*son

Now that the flooding problems have seemed to pass, we've had wind damage problems. No matter the reason, it seems the power has been going out more and more often. But don't fear, Beeson has a solution for that problem. We sell and install whole house stand by generators. Whether you want to run the essential lights and refrigerator or everything from your air conditioner or furnace to your washing machine and dishwasher, we have the right size generator for you. We can set it up for a manual or automatic switchover when your power goes out. It can also run a weekly test so you know it's running correctly. It can run off of natural gas or propane for your specific circumstances. Call today for more information and a free estimate.

It's That Time Again!

Fall is approaching and that means one thing...time for your fall clean and check. Whether you have an air handler, gas furnace, or package unit, the clean and check is a necessity. It helps your entire HVAC system keep running for more years than the average system. We ensure that everything is running efficiently and let you know if there's anything that needs fixed or looks like may need fixed in the near future. This keeps you aware of how your system is running, helps lower utility bills by making it as efficient as possible, and gives you a "heads up" if there may be something going wrong with it so you can plan financially for it in the future. We highly recommend a clean and check in the fall as well as the spring. If it's something you'd like to do every time, we have yearly contract prices to save you some money. The fall clean and checks typically begin at the end of October or beginning of November, weather depending. We need to make sure it's cool enough to run your heat and be able to feel the comfort of it in your home. Give us a call to schedule yours today.

Questions and Answers

Why Does My Power Seem to be Going Out More Often?

Some homes have power "feeding" their house from one direction and others from multiple directions. With more and more homes going up, there are more lines coming from the same substations. With all that said, the power lines have more chances of having something fall on them or being over-needed and the less directions you have power coming from, the better the chance you will lose your power. The solution is a stand by home generator.

What is the most efficient HVAC system to have?

The most efficient system is a hybrid system. This is a gas furnace indoors with a heat pump outdoors. It's also the best value when looking at initial cost and monthly utilities. The next most efficient system is a water source heat pump, commonly referred to as a geothermal system. It has a relatively high initial installation cost, modest maintenance costs, with low monthly utility costs. An individual analysis is needed to determine the best one for you due to the utility rates, your location, and your long term plans.
